WE THE WOMEN

We the Women is a campaign of Women Rise for All, an initiative by the United Nations Deputy Secretary-General recognizing the transformative leadership of women leaders in keeping the promise of the Sustainable Development Goals.

This year, the United Nations will host the Summit of the Future during the General Assembly in September.

It is an opportune moment to create a new narrative for the future of our world that reflects and amplifies women’s voices.

A GLOBAL MOVEMENT

The We the Women campaign aims to engage women around the world in shaping global solutions into the future.

From a global survey and series of intergenerational dialogues to a film and multi-media exhibition, the campaign will reach out to women through various channels. The campaign invites women to share their thoughts, ideas, and aspirations—about the world they want.

We the Women was launched at the margins of the 2023 SDG Summit by the United Nations Deputy Secretary-General Amina J. Mohammed and H.E. Svenja Schulze, Federal Minister for Economic Cooperation and Development of Germany.

“I hope our dialogue today renews our energy for the task ahead: shaping a world that works for all. That will only be possible if we have women front and center—leading the way and keeping the force of hope alive.”

AMINA J. MOHAMMED, UNITED NATIONS DEPUTY SECRETARY GENERAL, WOMEN RISE FOR ALL LUNCHEON, 23 SEPTEMBER 2023

“...The world needs gender equality to get the Agenda 2030 back on track. Because no society can afford to leave the potential of half of its population untapped if it wants to develop sustainability. We, the Women, need to claim our rightful place. And that is at the table where decisions are being made. Let’s work together to shape a UN that puts women and girls at the center.”

WE THE WOMEN GLOBAL SURVEY

The We the Women campaign starts with a Global Survey. The survey is asking women questions about how they see the future, their priorities, fears and hopes, and how global leaders can listen to them and support them as we collectively address issues, challenges and opportunities of the future.

WE THE WOMEN INTERGENERATIONAL DIALOGUES

- We will hold a series of Intergenerational Dialogues in countries to complement the quantitative survey findings with richer, more qualitative insights into women’s voices and perspectives for the future.
- The Dialogues are designed as intergenerational conversations about women’s priorities for the future of our world.
- The viewpoints and ideas expressed by women will be shared in a report. Both the survey’s key messages and the report will help inform the Pact for the Future, the outcome document of the 2024 Summit of the Future in September.
